PROJECTS

Traveler's Weather Dash | GitHub: <https://github.com/jaymemizelle/travelers-weather-dash> | Deployed

Project: <https://jaymemizelle.github.io/travelers-weather-dash/>

- This application is designed to use the OpenWeather API to load a 5-day forecast for any city the user searches for. Weather conditions are called from the API for each city. Searched cities are stored in client-side storage for the user to access at will.
- Technologies used: HTML5, CSS3, JQuery, Javascript, Bootstrap, Web APIs, AJAX

EXPERIENCE

Cranio-Sacral Therapist and Administrative Assistant at GIAM (Gerson Institute of Ayurvedic Medicine) Lake Mary, FL

- Utilized square to record and organize patient payment information. Utilized word, excel, and google docs to document patient information and create a consistent and organized work flow. Excelled in efficient communication with patients via phone and relayed information between patients and the physician both verbally and written via email. Exercised adaptability, flexibility, and problem-solving skills in organizing and executing week-long room and board retreats for out-of-state patients

Key Accomplishments:

- Patients wrote letters after their treatments consistently referring to the quality of care and compassion extended to them both during treatment and all communication leading up to it
- Consistently praised for patient/customer conflict resolution and de-escalation techniques that allowed the team to meet our patient satisfaction standards
